

Workshop Session 3

Work/Life Balance - Is there Such A Thing?

Speaker: Christine Stolpe

Workshop Description:

Despite the worldwide quest for work-life balance, very few have found an acceptable definition of the concept. Let's have a frank discussion about balance from the perspective of all generations currently in the workplace, what balance looks like in today's mobile workforce culture, what does it look like from the employer's perspective, and how to maintain that balance when and if we reach it.

Speaker Bio:

Passionate about furthering a primary understanding of payroll, Christine Stolpe, CPP has been working in some fashion of Payroll for the past 20 years and enjoys watching the profession blossom through business intelligence, social media and personal fortitude. A member of APA since 2011, Christine is chairperson of the Social Networking Committee, a member of the GRTF Retirement Accounts sub-committee, on the Board of Advisors to the APA Board of Directors representing Region 4, on the APA Board of Contributing Writers, on the Board of Directors for the California Payroll Conference (CPC), a past-president of the Silicon Valley Chapter (SVAPA), and a member of the APA's National Speakers Bureau. She was one of the first fifty recipients of the APA's Global Payroll Management Certification in October 2011, and has attended every annual Congress and California Payroll Conference since then.

Through furthering her own education and skill sets by attending APA seminars, online webinars and chapter meetings, she has developed a taste for helping others. She has developed training sessions about practical applications in the payroll profession, volunteered to participate in the Money Matters presentations throughout her community's high school districts during National Payroll Week, and enjoys the opportunity to further grow her network of resources, colleagues and friends at the national, state and local levels.
